Branding Brief:

Oscar de la renta is a prestigious runway brand founded by Oscar Aristides Renta. The current co-creative directors of the brand are Laura Kim and Fernando Garcia. The luxury brand produces high quality and couture pieces which come at high pricetags. By creating “O by Oscar de la Renta” they attempted to make the iconic label more accessible and ready for every day wear. Despite the great idea, the spin off brand fell completely flat. This is because all aspects of the brand, especially the logo, were not modern. The current trend in fashion, especially for these luxury brand’s streetwear spin offs is to be modern and minimalist. Many of these brands designs also focus solely on logos, yet O by Oscar de la renta’s logo does not read well on clothing. I have created a minimalist and modern logo that can be used to establish brand identity and create clothing that young people actually want to wear. My target will be young fashion conscious consumers, that are familiar with the runway label but are not able to afford the high end and couture products. The new product will be a pretentious streetwear brand, that has remarkably lower pricepoints than the runway line (ex. $100 tees rather than $500+ blouses). The brand is inspired by/will rival that of McQ by Alexander McQueen and CDG Play by Comme Des Garcon.

Rebranded Color Palette

The colors presently used by O by Oscar De La Renta are dated, they remind me of shades grandparents would wear rather than the youthful consumer I am targetting. I gave these colors a millennial update using muted tones to attracted a larger/younger market.

OSCAR DE LA RENTA

The old logo uses very unattractive and outdated colors. There is no contrast in the logo and it does not read well on clothing, which is important for a clothing brand. The new logo is distinct, modern and minimalist and will look attractive on a number of different clothing items.
